A REPUBLICAN ON STEWART.

The San Francisco Republican, which states at the head of its columns that it is "a partisan Republican newspaper," says: "Mr. W. M. Stewart has represented the State of Nevada in the United States Senate, but it is not on record that he performed any particularly brilliant feats of statesmanship, except to let the bill which demonetized silver slip through under his nose. Until quite recently he has not been a resident of the State for over 11 years, but gains his eligibility to be a candidate by the building of a house on the soil of the State, gaining a presumptive residence, while he never 'goes home' except when business or his Senatorial hunt calls him there."

It is asserted at the State Department that there are no fresh developments in the Cutting case, and that the attitude of the Government has not changed in respect. This case is the result of natural friction or antagonism between the systems of Government of the two peoples, who differ radically in character and customs. The position we have taken is based upon the assumption that all the material facts and legal features of the case are as they have been set forth in the correspondence and reports already made public; but in the matter of involving possible warfare it is held to be incumbent on us to make sure that there is nothing of importance beyond the official information already on hand, and to this end all the efforts of the State Department are turned. The foundation once firmly laid, a decision will have to be made whether the differences which shall be found to exist shall be reconciled through the further efforts of diplomacy or by war; but in no event will this Government assent to the doctrine that an American citizen can be arrested, tried and punished abroad for an offense committed within our own domain.

The President left Washington yesterday for a month's vacation in the Adirondacks, in Northern New York. He was accompanied by Mrs. Cleveland and her mother, Mrs. Folsom. No mail will be forwarded or opened by him during his absence. Any public business requiring his immediate consideration will be brought to his attention by his Cabinet officers.

The San Francisco City Argus has a two-page cartoon, with the title "Nevada's Choice." The cartoon is a portrait of J. W. Mackay seated at a telegraph table, with Uncle Sam patting him on the back, and Nevada, in the garb of a Finnish-looking lady, putting a wreath on his brow. The wreath is labeled "U. S. Senatorship."

The United States Treasury seems to be run in the interest of the money brokers. The late order of stamping graded coins as light and compelling the holders to sell them as bullion certainly is in the interest of no other class.

The ousting of Hearst leaves Fair the only Democratic Senator from the whole region west of the Missouri river, and the next Nevada Legislature will return a Republican in his place.

A Nevada man has written to Washington offering to plant the American flag on the North Pole within eighteen months. Of course he wants government assistance in organizing an expedition. He had better turn his attention to politics in the sagebrush State. With both Fair and Mackay in the contest for U. S. Senator he can make more, and it will not be so cold a day when he gets left.—Yolo Mail.

A little squib from a State exchange, which inadvertently crept into yesterday's issue, might create the impression that Mr. Adams was the Independent's first choice for Governor, which is not true. While it will have no hesitation in supporting that gentleman should he receive the nomination, it's choice is Mr. Theodore Winters.—Elko Independent.

A WEAK CONGRESS.

The Salt Lake Herald truly says: The close of a session of Congress extending over a period of more than eight months, and the net results of the session's deliberations, will again remind the American people that they maintain the most expensive legislative body in the world, and that the laws, poor in quality as many of them are, cost more per word than the statutes of any other civilized nation on the globe. It is astonishing if not astounding, that over 401 men, to say nothing of the other hundreds of clerks, secretaries and other employees, can put in so many months, and be active all the time, and accomplish so little. It looks as if the aim were to bamboozle the people; to make a display of doing much while really doing little or nothing. The show is made in the 13,202 measures that were presented. This is an average of 33 to each Senator and Representative. The members send home these 13,202 bills and resolutions covering all subjects, and make their constituents think they are alive to the needs of the country, and are working themselves to death in the interest of their employers. The work performed is seen in the 987 measures which have become law. Out of every thirteen bills introduced, twelve were thrown in for show and one for service; of fifty bills passed, only one is general in its provisions, the forty-nine being purely private and personal in their operation. There are really not thirty bills among those enacted during the eight months' session in which the general public is in the least interested. If the country could be made to fully understand how Congress fritters away the time, how little it really does and how much noise and fuss it makes over doing that little, the sentiment in favor of reducing the number of Representatives to a working body and limiting the sessions to brief periods would be much more pronounced than it is. The membership is too large, the rules are so numerous and intricate that it is an easy matter for one who understands them to delay and even prevent legislation; but the great evil lies in the fact that men go to Congress to air their politics and work for re-election rather than to perform the duties for which they were appointed.

One would think that the members who separated on Thursday would be ashamed to go home and show themselves to their constituents. Not half a dozen Senators and Representatives have done their whole duty to the men who sent them there, and to the country. Those who had the ability to do, were afraid to act, lest their political prospect might be injured, and the many were content to take matters easy, troubling themselves about nothing beyond letting their constituents know that bills had been properly introduced, and the seeds from the Agricultural Bureau fairly distributed.

This has been the weakest Congress of many years, and its real work is of the least importance. It wouldn't take many such useless sessions to call forth a howl that would revolutionize matters in the legislative branch of the government.

CONSUMPTION OF LUXURIES.

The New York Tribune publishes the following facts gathered, it appears, from a Washington letter. The facts may be of some interest to our readers, and food for reflection to the thoughtful:

The details given in a recent Washington letter make it hard to believe that the people in this country are in very desperate straits, when they consume in a single year 10.83 gallons of beer for every man, woman and child, and 1.19 gallons of spirits, besides 59.2 cigars for every inhabitant, 2.1 cigarettes, and 3.22 pounds smoking and chewing tobacco. It is true that the condition of a large part of the population is not indicated by these figures, for much more than half of the inhabitants do not use liquor or tobacco to any appreciable extent. The little ones are not as a rule consumers, and a considerable proportion of the adults spend no money in this way. But if a third of the inhabitants, let us say 20,000,000 persons, consume all the tobacco, spirits and beer, it is at all events certain that they cannot be starving because of inability to buy food. For the cost of the drink and the smoke would average about $57 yearly for each of the 20,000,000 and that sum would buy bread and meat enough to keep them all from emaciation. No soldier ever yet was found who could consume an entire army ration, year in and year out, but that costs only $58 yearly. The 20,000,000 who smoke and drink appear to consume one entire army ration in that way, at all events, whether they earn two or three times as much or not.

Somewhat Absent-Minded.

From Texas Sitings. Prof. Zweibeer, of the University of Bonn, is a very absent-minded man. He was busily engaged in solving some scientific problem. The servant hastily opened the door of his studio and announced a great family event. "A little stranger has arrived." "Eh?" "There is a little boy." "Little boy? Well, ask him what he wants."

The clerical and incidental appropriation for the Virginia postoffice has been cut from $1,500 to $1,000. The total appropriation, including salary, is $2,800, the running expenses $2,300, leaving the Postmaster about $500 a year to live on. Hurrah for the Democratic administration of petty reform!

The Board of County Commissioners will meet in regular session on Wednesday, September 1st, instead of the first Monday as usual. This is because of the fact that Commissioner Hymers expects to take a trip to the East early in September. Parties having bills against the County should make a note of this and have them filed with the Recorder before Sept. 1st.

A BEAUTIFUL LAKE.—The Truckee

Republican says:

The brightest gems in the panorama of California's scenery are our mountain lakes, which in natural beauty, yet scarcely invaded by the embellishment of man, are not surpassed by those of any other section of the earth. First and foremost among them is Lake Tahoe, which is located on the boundary line between California and Nevada, about two-thirds being in Placer and El Dorado counties, the other portion in the State of Nevada. This charming body is at an altitude of six thousand two hundred and sixteen feet, and is twenty-five miles in length, and in some places from twelve to fourteen miles in width, with a depth of one thousand seven hundred feet, and is surrounded by mountains rising from two thousand to five thousand feet above its surface. The scenery on every hand is enchanting. The view from Tahoe City has no equal. On the right, at a distance of twelve, or fifteen miles, are the Robinson mountains, nine thousand two hundred and eighty feet above the level of the sea, Mt. Tallac, nine thousand seven hundred and fifteen feet, Mt. Ralston, nine thousand one hundred and forty feet, the Pyramid peak, ten thousand and fifty feet, and on the left Monument mountain, nearly as high; and then the Sand mountains, rising above the lake nearly two thousand five hundred feet. Upon the Nevada shore is the Tahoe range, the highest object on the right being Job's peak, ten thousand and thirty-seven feet high. Upon the left is seen Genoa peak, nine thousand one hundred and thirty-five feet high. A correspondent, speaking of the sunsets at Tahoe, remarks that "no painter would ever dare to put upon canvas the varied colors of Tahoe's waters in a summer sunset. It would appear such an exaggeration that it would lose cast among those who demand that an artist's pencil shall be true to nature. None but those who have visited the scene could be persuaded of its reality."

NEVADA THEATER.—To-morrow evening our appreciative theater-goers will experience a first-class dramatic treat at the Theater. The McKee Rankin Company, from the California Theater, San Francisco, will present their great play, "The Golden Giant," with a cast embracing the full strength of the company. It is a play which takes splendidly wherever presented, and will no doubt take well here. The San Francisco Call of May 30 says:

The "Golden Giant" proved itself an immense success on its first production at the California Theater. The drama is one of the same class in which Mr. Rankin made his great reputation. It is like the "Dante" and "12," and at the same time more emotional than either of these successful plays, while equally full of the broad and florid elements which contributed so greatly to their success. There is pathos, humor and melodrama with no tiresome excess in each. The scenes are laid in London, 1870, and the synopsis reads as if the author, having good material at command, has made efficient dramatic use of it. The cast embraces the full strength of the McKee Rankin Company.

GREENVILLE FAIR.—The Seventh Annual Fair of Plumas, Lassen, Sierra and Modoc Agricultural Association will meet at Greenville, Plumas County, Sept. 20, 1886, and continue for five days. These fairs are always rendered pleasant and successful.

THANKS.—The sons and daughters of the late Jacob Ash desire to publicly thank the many friends, and especially Mr. and Mrs. Russak, for their kind attention and services during the illness of their father.

Dr. H. C. Sheets has just been elected a delegate to the Republican State Convention of California, from San Francisco. They meet in Los Angeles this year.

The aggregate amount of taxable property in this county this year will exceed last year's assessment by some $200,000. The rate of taxation is $1 90 on $100, a reduction of 25 cent from last year. Elko Independent.

GAGE AND GOODMAN

The San Francisco Commercial Record says:

It speaks volumes for the management of the Southern Pacific Company that without accident or complaint it handled the enormous passenger traffic during the Grand Army Encampment. The discipline maintained by this great corporation, the careful attention bestowed upon every detail of a vast and complicated business result in the best character of service to the public. On the day of the great parade not less than eighty thousand people were safely carried across the bay and returned to their homes. Our Eastern visitors were unimpaired in their commendations of the management of the Pacific railroad lines and of the unfailing courtesy shown them by the employees. The generalship that achieves glory in the big wars that make ambition virtue by successful handling vast masses of men is not more arduous or skillful than that displayed by the executive head of the Southern Pacific Company. The Hon. Stephen A. Gage now occupies that responsible position. To him and his subordinates belong the credit. General Passenger Agent Goodman was perhaps the hardest worked man in the service and yet he found time to march aloft with his comrades.

Movements of the Cattle Men.

The Montana cattlemen are waking up to the fact that they have been overstocking their ranges. When the grass has been eaten off until the pasture becomes poor, it takes a long time to restore productiveness. The grazers are now looking for fresh pastures. Some of them are selling off their herds to get out of the business before the pinch comes. Others are acquiring ranges in Alberta. Canadian party bucks and relatives of Cabinet Ministers and Members of Parliament have been granted range leases in the Province without regard to their ability to stock them; they have kept out bona fide settlers, and are now selling their franchises to the Americans. This moves the Dominion press to opposition in the interest of the settlement and development of the country. The San Francisco Bulletin says that some of these great stock men are also reported to be coming with their herds to Nevada. The railroad lands in this State have been laid off in large cattle ranges, and an effort is being made to have the Government lands also open for purchase in large tracts.

A Vote for Blaine

Philadelphia News.

The question for Republicans to consider now, for it is time to be preparing for the contest, is, can James G. Blaine carry New York against Cleveland or Hill? It is certain that he can carry every other necessary State except New York. Is there any doubt that he can make a better fight next time? We do not think there is. Will any Democrat deny that Grover Cleveland is not weaker in New York to-day than when he was elected by the narrow majority of 1,100?
